Excerpt: . . . REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SCHOOL SANITATION, HYGIENE, AND PHYSICAL TRAINING. BY WILLIAM A. MOWRY, HYDE PARK, MASS. , CHAIRMAN. We are living in an educational age. The electric light is turned in full blaze upon the schoolroom. The American system of public schools is under discussion and subject to criticism everywhere. Within a few years past great changes have taken place, and important improvements have been introduced which have affected all grades and all phases of educational work. The curriculum has been materially modified. The colleges are enlarging and developing their work on every side. They have demanded a more extended preparation from the secondary schools. In turn, the high schools and academies have required larger and better preparation from below. The enlargement and enrichment of the course of study in the elementary schools has been the result. These transitions are hardly yet...
