In a progressive age like this in which we live, when mind and matter quiver under daily impulses of knowledge and science, all civilization must be affected, more or less, by a struggle for empire between two hostile powers like France and Austria. Many questions and consequences are involved in the conflict of dynasties - various speculations are ventured concerning results to ensue - and numberless hopes and fears hang trembling on the poise of expectation, both in Europe and our own land. The war now devastating Italy may be regarded as a game of tremendous hazard, whereon the Old and New World have stakes of vast consequence to their future weal or woe. If a feeling of national interest is shared by American...
