The reminiscences of Samuel H. Hadley in the February number are well worth reading. The March number of The Auburn Seminary Record contains the addresses on Some Present Problems of the Church which were given at the Mid-Winter Conference at Auburn. Considerable space is also given to the well loved Prof. Darling, who has just passed to his reward. The Middle West Advocate is a newcomer in the field of general literary journalism. W. W. Davis is contributing a series of short essays on ten great Americans which are very good reading. The March cover of Everybody : Magazine is the most unique idea we have ever seen worked out. We find everybody reading Everybody s Magazine. The Spoilers has developed an intensity of interest almost too intense for comfort but compelling of attention. All who are reading this story should also read the series of articles in AppletOn s Booklovers Magazine which tell with equal vividness of the actual Looting of Alaska. It would be hard to tell which is the stranger and most intense, the truth or the fiction. 1 In these days when the passage of the Alps means more and more only a railroad trip, such articles as The Dog Heroes of St. Bernard in the February Woman s Home Companion have a permanent value beside their immediate interest. topics of human interest at homo and abroad? Does the time demanded by so many...
